Two new Honorary guides

The Arab-American Psychologist Wafa Sultan from LA was awarded today the title of Honorary Guide for her strong stand regarding Muslim primitive civilization. She explained in an interview aired on Al-Jazeera TV on February 21, 2006 that there is no clash of civilizations but a clash between the mentality of the middle ages and that of the 21st century.

Following are more excerpts from that interview that we recommend you to watch on <http://switch3.castup.net/cunet/gm.asp?ai=214&ar=1050wmv&ak=null>

Wafa Sultan: the clash we are witnessing around the world is not a clash of religions or a clash of civilizations. It is a clash between two opposites, between two eras. It is a clash between a mentality that belongs to the Middle Ages and another mentality that belongs to the 21st century. It is a clash between civilization and backwardness, between the civilized and the primitive, between barbarity and rationality. It is a clash between freedom and oppression, between democracy and dictatorship. It is a clash between human rights, on the one hand, and the violation of these rights, on other hand. It is a clash between those who treat women like beasts, and those who treat them like human beings. What we see today is not a clash of civilizations. Civilizations do not clash, but compete.

Host: I understand from your words that what is happening today is a clash between the culture of the West, and the backwardness and ignorance of the Muslims?

Wafa Sultan: Yes, that is what I mean.

Host: Who came up with the concept of a clash of civilizations? Was it not Samuel Huntington? It was not Bin Laden. I would like to discuss this issue, if you don't mind...

Wafa Sultan: The Muslims are the ones who began using this expression. The Muslims are the ones who began the clash of civilizations. The Prophet of Islam said: "I was ordered to fight the people until they believe in Allah and His Messenger." When the Muslims divided the people into Muslims and non-Muslims, and called to fight the others until they believe in what they themselves believe, they started this clash, and began this war. In order to start this war, they must reexamine their Islamic books and curricula, which are full of calls for takfir and fighting the infidels.

I am not a Christian, a Muslim, or a Jew. I am a secular human being. I do not believe in the supernatural, but I respect others' right to believe in it.

Dr. Ibrahim Al-Khouli: Are you a heretic?

Wafa Sultan: You can say whatever you like. I am a secular human being who does not believe in the supernatural...

Dr. Ibrahim Al-Khouli: If you are a heretic, there is no point in rebuking you, since you have blasphemed against Islam, the Prophet, and the Koran...

Wafa Sultan: These are personal matters that do not concern you.

Wafa Sultan: Brother, you can believe in stones, as long as you don't throw them at me. You are free to worship whoever you want, but other people's beliefs are not your concern, whether they believe that the Messiah is God, son of Mary, or that Satan is God, son of Mary. Let people have their beliefs.

Wafa Sultan: The Jews have come from the tragedy (of the Holocaust), and forced the world to respect them, with their knowledge, not with their terror, with their work, not their crying and yelling. Humanity owes most of the discoveries and science of the 19th and 20th centuries to Jewish scientists. 15 million people, scattered throughout the world, united and won their rights through work and knowledge. We have not seen a single Jew blow himself up in a German restaurant. We have not seen a single Jew destroy a church. We have not seen a single Jew protest by killing people. The Muslims have turned three Buddha statues into rubble. We have not seen a single Buddhist burn down a Mosque, kill a Muslim, or burn down an embassy. Only the Muslims defend their beliefs by burning down churches, killing people, and destroying embassies. This path will not yield any results. The Muslims must ask themselves what they can do for humankind, before they demand that humankind respect them.

Michel Onfray, French philosopher, was awarded today the title of Honorary Guide of the Raelian Movement by the Prophet Rael.

To discover this philosopher, here are a few excerpts of his writings where you will see the similarities with the Raelian philosophy and

Rael's teachings:

"In front of any power that demands submission and sacrifices of all kinds, the task of the philosopher is to be disrespectful, mischievous, naughty, un-disciplined and un-submissive. Rebel and disobeying, although convinced that his task is desperate, he must incarnate the resistance against the Leviathan and his water carriers. With political matters, one must be impious and atheist.

(Michel Onfray / Cynismes / 2000)

"Too many Christian centuries have taught the women that they were nothing, less than nothing, the dregs of Humanity, with no soul, not worth any consideration, sinners, temptress and other bullshits."

(Michel Onfray / La philosophie féroce / 2004)

"Monotheist religions share the same faith : life on earth is a fiction ; what counts is a back-world full of creatures that make fairy tales look very pale – a god who sees everything, a bearded man who splits the sea in two, a virgin who gives birth, a dead man who resurrects, a prophet who hates ham ; the body is a punishment ; a woman is a catastrophe ; to give birth is a necessity to perpetuate a negativity under which name we are castrated..."

"Monotheisms also hate the individuals who don't sacrifice to the same god as theirs. Untolerant, jealous, exclusive, arrogant, proud, dominant, they dictate laws for others. Hence their being accomplice with the warriors, soldiers, military people of all kinds.

(Michel Onfray / La philosophie féroce / 2004)

"Each time I wished to exchange a few words with a back-world seller, whether they were Jewish, Christian or Muslim – they sell the same mats – I only met people who had a good memory but who, most of the time, put their intelligence under the bushel.... Memories of the commonplaces told and written in the flesh of their childhood; and refusal to think so that they can nurture their illusions."

(Michel Onfray / / La philosophie féroce / 2004)

*"Considering the world situation, the emergency to me seems the teaching of atheism!"
(Michel Onfray / La philosophie féroce / 2004)*

*"... Christians seem more gifted for resentment than for loving their neighbors."
(Michel Onfray / La philosophie féroce / 2004)*

*"The three monotheisms – I really mean the three of them – fundamentally teach the same hatred towards women, desires, pulsions, passions, sensuality and freedom, all freedoms. Let's not get excited over the importance or not to teach religions in school, the emergency is the teaching of atheism."
(Michel Onfray)*

*"By not being lazy, one sacrifices fully to social requirements."
(Michel Onfray)*

*"The best success of a dandy is the way he uses his own time and not his money. He despises the gold in which middle-class people stagnate: his master piece is his freedom, the acquisition of his freedom."
(Michel Onfray)*

Reaction of Michel Houellebecq on an email he sent to RAEL, after our Prophet informed him personally that Michel Onfray had been nominated Honorary Guide as well:

"I said about him in my last book that he is a "poor scriptomaniac" ... it was not very nice of me but he has been writing at least twenty books with only one content: " I am atheist". After buying about ten of them, I had enough and thought that he was a little too young to start repeating himself, especially since atheism is such an evidence for me.. In reality, there is more content in one of your books than in all the writings of Michel Onfray. Apart from that, I don't know him, but I have been told he is rather sympathetic."

News and Views

There is no such thing as infidelity.

It was quite a shock for most of the Raelians who read Rael-Science today to discover an article published about a website where some women have listed the name of their ex-boyfriends and explained how these partners "cheated" on them, posting details on allegedly bad behaviour. Some are even posting pictures of their present boy friend to find out if he had been "cheating" during his previous relationship... The author of the site declared to the Independent newspaper: "We just thought it would be a good idea to find out if a man was a cheater or a liar before investing time in him, perhaps by searching a large database along the lines of the FBI's most wanted."

And just four months after this site was launched, more than 20,000 Britons have already joined up!

It is really sad to see that the common Judeo-Christian notion of infidelity is still dictating the patterns of couple's relationships... Scientific studies have proven that men and women are made to have several partners in their lifetime. A recent study has shown that romantic love corresponds to an increase of specific chemicals in our body that lasts for a few months and usually disappears completely after 2 years (Psychoneuroendocrinology journal, September 2005 issue, study made by Dr Emanuele). Even if two individuals are madly in love at some point, it is very likely that they could be madly in love with someone else 2 years later and we all have tens of examples of such a situation. This is the way we are made; this is our biological make-up, our genetic make-up. This is also fully confirmed by the reality of our society: most marriages collapse and lead to divorce within 5 years and most couples have partners outside of their relationship. The reason why some have multiple partners most of the time is not related to the fact they are in love with someone else, it is also because some of us are only fulfilled when they have several partners while some others are content with only one partner or no partner at all. There are no rules on this matter, only a large array of genetic make-ups that lead to a large array of behaviours.

These behaviours have also been related to the amount of oxytocin we produce. This hormone is often called the "attachment hormone" and its quantity in our body is proportional to the attachment we feel to our source of pleasure. The more oxytocin we produce, the more attached we are to our partner. Those who produce naturally a large amount of oxytocin will stay attached to their first lover for life while those who naturally produce only a little amount of oxytocin are more likely to have several partners. If two people fall in love and have a big difference in their oxytocin level, it is more than likely that when the "romantic love chemicals" have recessed, the one with a low level of oxytocin will have other partners and the one with the high level of oxytocin will put the face of his/her partner on a website and claims he has the terrible disease called "infidelity"...

This is one of the hypocritical attitudes of our society that the Prophet Rael has been denouncing for 32 years as it is the source of so much suffering. Now science is here to demonstrate his teachings on this matter and participants to Raelian seminars not only receive all the scientific evidences to support the fact that there is no such thing as "infidelity" or "ownership" between human beings but also the tools to avoid living these terrible emotions that are jealousy and guilt.

We have been created with the largest array of genes, making us react differently when facing similar situations and thanks to these differences, life is rich and contrasted. Raelians, conscious of the importance to change the perception of the public on this topic, are preparing a site about sexual and religious infidels, after an idea of the Prophet Rael, called infidel-club.com.

If you want to know how to get rid of the primitive emotion that is jealousy and live conscious and fulfilling relationships, free of guilt or suspicion, freely opened and blossoming, come to one of the seminars given by the Prophet Rael or consult the nearest Raelian guide in your region (www.rael.org) who will be more than happy to give you a taste of what the Prophet Rael has taught Raelians on this subject.

To share one's life is a wonderful experience if built on the right foundations.

The dumbest evolutionist "scientific study" of the year.

A recent study conducted by Peter Frost, a Canadian anthropologist, was published this week under the aegis of St Andrews University in Fife in the academic journal, Evolution and Human Behaviour.

What he basically says is that women with blond hair appeared by accident following a mutation and won cavemen's hearts and survived better than the brunette when there was a shortage of male. He concluded that the lighter shades of blond hair evolved as a response to food shortages in areas where women could not collect food for themselves and were reliant on male hunters.

Another study published last year by researchers at City University in London found that modern men responded more positively to pictures of brunettes and redheaded women than to their blonde counterparts. Experts are now saying that as relations between men and women have evolved, men may have become "more attracted by brains, represented in their psyche by brunettes, than the more physical charms of blond hair".

Are we really talking about science here?

In other words, to explain the facts that there is a diversity of hair colors in Northern Europe, and comply with the evolution theory, scientists had to make the following non-verifiable assumptions:

- a mutation occurred 10,000 years ago and blond hair appeared
- cavemen were more attracted to blonde girls
- another mutation occurred and men are now more attracted to brunettes
- the joke about blondes having less brains is widely accepted

The whole evolution theory is built in the same way, making use of convenient assumptions that help scientists keep on writing thousands of pages of possible interpretations of their observations without having to question the validity of the theory itself.

The Prophet Rael reading this piece of news made the following statement:

This is the dumbest evolutionist "scientific study" this year, claiming that primitive women suddenly thought "yes let's have blond daughters in order to attract men" and that they had the power to influence their children's hair color ... Very scientific indeed! These people forget that at this time, especially if there was a "shortage of men", like in many other cultures, there was polygamy, which is a good and simple natural way for all women to have partners. And that it was even better than polygamy as at this time marriage didn't exist... And there were communities where every member of the tribe was taking care of all members as it still exists in some primitive tribes where all children are raised collectively. It does also exist in animals, like ostriches and many others. May be this "scientific study" was made by "blonde scientists" ? ;-)

Our support

The Prophet Rael sent his support this week to the 12 writers who have put their names to a statement in a French weekly newspaper, Charlie Hebdo's warning against Islamic "totalitarianism". He has expressed his wish to have his signature added to the list of 12 as he considers as very important to denounce totalitarian threat, wherever it is coming from, and in this case, it is from Islamism.

We reproduce here the text in full:

After having overcome fascism, Nazism, and Stalinism, the world now faces a new global totalitarian threat: Islamism.

We, writers, journalists, intellectuals, call for resistance to religious totalitarianism and for the promotion of freedom, equal opportunity and secular values for all.

Recent events, prompted by the publication of drawings of Muhammad in European newspapers, have revealed the necessity of the struggle for these universal values.

This struggle will not be won by arms, but in the ideological field.

It is not a clash of civilisations nor an antagonism between West and East that we are witnessing, but a global struggle that confronts democrats and theocrats.

Like all totalitarian ideologies, Islamism is nurtured by fear and frustration.

Preachers of hatred play on these feelings to build the forces with which they can impose a world where liberty is crushed and inequality reigns.

But we say this, loud and clear: nothing, not even despair, justifies choosing darkness, totalitarianism and hatred.

Islamism is a reactionary ideology that kills equality, freedom and secularism wherever it is present.

Its victory can only lead to a world of injustice and domination: men over women, fundamentalists over others.

On the contrary, we must ensure access to universal rights for the oppressed or those discriminated against.

We reject the "cultural relativism" which implies an acceptance that men and women of Muslim culture are deprived of the right to equality, freedom and secularism in the name of the respect for certain cultures and traditions.

We refuse to renounce our critical spirit out of fear of being accused of "Islamophobia", a wretched concept that confuses criticism of Islam as a religion and stigmatisation of those who believe in it.

We defend the universality of the freedom of expression, so that a critical spirit can exist in every continent, towards each and every maltreatment and dogma.

We appeal to democrats and free spirits in every country that our century may be one of light and not dark.

LIFE IN THE MOVEMENT

Agenda of our Beloved Prophet for the coming months... (got it right this time ;-)

Oceanian seminars near Brisbane in Australia : March 25th to April 1st

Global Warming Conference in Miami: April 20th and 21st

US seminars in Las Vegas: May13th to May 21st

A friend in our thoughts

Our friend Jacques Dramet, Raelian for many years, has had an operation lately and is recovering very slowly. Let's have him in our thoughts and prayers to help him go through this tough moment and regain strength and color.

The Raelian Movement recognized as a religion in Puerto Rico!

Daniel Turcotte, happy Continental Guide of South America, has just informed us of the great work of Willie Gerald, the National Guide of Puerto Rico, who got the Raelian Movement registered as a religion in his country.

Congratulations dear Willie!

Mardi Gras in Sydney, a Raelian must, with pope alic and Raelian naked breasts

There has been a great reception for the Raelians this year at the Sydney Gay and Lesbian New Mardi Gras. It has been a hard-won respect. New Mardi Gras was concerned about our anti-Religious theme and wanted to censor us. I was able to successfully argue that our message is crucial to all those young gay people, in particular, who consider suicide because they can't see a loving future for themselves, only one full of hateful religious dogma..

Many of the commentators along the route were aware of the Raelians as a UFO group and a controversial Movement and announced our website as being especially created for gay, lesbian, bi-sexual, transgender, queer Raelians. The commentators were aware that we expect to meet with people from another planet. They also congratulated us on taking on religion. One commentator said over the loudspeaker, "Yes how dare religions tell us not to use condoms."

The theme of our float was 'Debaptism'. "Religions Created Homophobia - Debaptize Yourself". Our signs read, "Homosexuality IS Natural. Homophobia is NOT Natural". "UFO Brings Love", "The Myth of God is Over", "Debaptise Yourself". All had the raeliangay.org website underneath.

"Pope Alice Loves You to Life".

Pope Alice's outfit especially caused a sensation. She led the way wearing a bishop's mitre and rows of breasts like the Roman goddess Artemis. The large fuschia pink cope billowed in the cooling breeze of the evening. It was held each side by two Raelian women (Rhanda and Anna) who wore Muslim-style head-scarves and little else. Their breasts were exposed. This was an awesome and magnificent gesture.

They caused an orgasmic enthusiasm in the crowd, who felt liberated by the daring attire and snubbing of religious restrictions. The crowd were thrilled that finally someone was taking the piss out of religion. People felt that this was such a great way of dealing with the building pressure from Islam to conform to medieval oppressions.

Pope Alice added to the joy of the crowd by flashing them, as she did last year, with the huge phallus concealed beneath her cascading breasts.

“Now that’s genetic engineering gone wild.” said one wily onlooker.

We were so uplifted by the Parade, which lasted about an hour up Oxford Street into Flinders Street down to the Showgrounds. We were buzzing with energy at the end of it.

This year the Party was sold out, which is a good sign that Mardi Gras is recovering from its lull. I’d like to think that the Raelian contribution of some gutsy politics has also contributed to the revitalisation of this significant event.

Many of the hardcore Mardi Gras goers thought our float was very courageous and highly relevant and topical. They also thought Pope Alice and her assistants were very brave and the costumes witty. This is high praise indeed from a tough section of the Sydney community.

Saul and his van

Saul is the regional guide of Brisbane in Australia.... the region where our Beloved Prophet will land soon.... Read his testimony, you will see that our Prophet will be in good hands J

I write this little testimony in case you could use it as an encouragement for other Raelians around the planet via "contact".

It’s a massive diffusion tool. I have regularly changed the stickers for over the last 6 years. From this van I have managed to grab attention of about 4-6 different documentary student teams who had done documentaries and showed the film at their University.

As well I have managed to secure many newspaper stories and just done an interview and photos this morning for the largest newspaper in Queensland with a readership of over 1 million people to be published this Sunday.

No doubt many thousands of curious people have looked at the web site from seeing it on the Van. I have sold over 100 books because of it ...entered into many conversations with strangers in the streets.

There are details about the "Raelian Van" being published in a local book in the library and it is regarded as a cultural icon in our inner city suburb of West End. Another Raelian 300 km from me told me that whilst diffusing one day met a person who told them that they came from the "West End" (my region) and that the "Raelians are really big there". (referring to my Van) It seems to give our movement a more official type of presentation I guess that represents a larger group.

The car has been spat at, scratched and many sets of stickers torn off (three days ago the photo of Rael "love Love" was pulled off and pushed through my towbar) Being a signwriter I renewed it immediately with my sticker equipment.

I never advertize my self-employed business and find that many people seek out my services regardless of my self expression....In fact I believe it is the best marketing tool ever!...People say "get that crazy dude who has the UFO stickers on his car...he will do a good job"

More recently I was intimidated by a Middle Eastern man very aggressively telling me to take off all the stickers within 24 hours or he would come looking for me. This encouraged me to actually put even more stickers on the Van. I have had a person screaming at me in the street and going crazy at me as well. People on the highway laugh at me regularly, I get the forks a lot, and also have even had many people exposing there bums at me. haha. Most people are encouraging though and cheer for me.

I am a single dad and picking up the children from school has also been interesting. My children have had other kids make fun of me but my children know the importance and totally respect my decision to keep the stickers on the van permanently until the Elohim return, and even afterwards if needed. However some other children at my boys' school have said to my children ..."is that your Dad's van...how cool".

Originally in my small town (only 3,000 people) that I originally came from, I caused a frenzy of gossip when I came out as being a Raelian by putting all the stickers on the car as I was a respected business person in the community...they thought I had gone crazy! hahaha so funny and FUN!

I have so many heaps of stories to share about my adventures with my No.1 diffusion tool ...my Van. I never realised how much fun it would be... to be so proud of my philosophy and as well impact peoples lives at the same time. I hope other Raelians worldwide can use their cars to spread the meassge and help the messenger of Peace ..Teacher of Happiness "Rael" (blessed be his name) as much as we can. I mean my courage is like a mouses fart compared to OBP Rael and his courage. I give thanks from every ounce of fibre in my being for the inspiration and the joy and emotional strength you have brought to my life and people whom enter my infinity.

Femininity Day in Miami

The Miami Raelian women and men celebrated the second annual year of "International Femininity Day" as designed by RAEL himself to emphasize the crucial importance of feminine values for peace. Live sensual body painting, street performances and dance were in the programme to illustrate our desire to promote femininity, refinement, beauty and sensuality. It is not by coincidence that this celebration coincides with National Women's Day, in that "Femininity Day" is and should be the next logical progression. "Feminists have copied male shortcomings. It's as if a genius like Einstein, under the pretense of equality, should lower himself to the fools' level." – RAEL

Femininity in itself is an expression of art – the art of human kindness, unconditional love, acceptance and refinement. The Raelian Movement recognizes that men and women everywhere have to surpass their previous educations and look forward at tomorrow with a new awareness that encompasses both beauty and femininity as it is the only antidote to combat the current trends of violence and aggression in which we currently live. We need to abandon past aggressions and embrace our sensuality to truly propel the consciousness of humanity into the 21st Century. "If femininity is a remedy for mankind and is the way to prevent its destruction, then to develop it becomes a necessity and the responsibility of each human being, regardless of his or her gender."- RAEL.

The Miami team took over the challenge and did magnificently J

A crowd gathered instantly at the arrival of the Raelian Angels led by Donna Newman, Regional Guide and director of the event. There were around 200 people surrounding us the whole time, taking pictures for about 2 hours that afternoon.

Around 1,500 flyers were redistributed and another 500 before to invite people for the event. People passing by asked to be painted as well and be part of the show. One woman came specifically to celebrate the fact that she saved her breast from cancer! she saw the flyer the day before. She told us that this was the best way to celebrate her victory and she pulled her clothes and our wonderful artist

Jesus painted her breasts; then told him to thank the Raelians for this great event.

The whole crowd was with us all the time, demonstrating only positive reactions.

Just being there and being looked at was an attraction the people could not resist. We did not need to make a big circus, the scene was far better than any show.

The police came twice. The first time, they left after talking with us on the legality of being topless. Yes, in South Beach you can be topless on the side walk as long as the nipples are covered, on the beaches, no need to cover the nipples, of course. But on the streets, the law does not express what kind of covering.

So, painting was OK.

But the second time, about an hour later, they came back with 6 officers, most of them female, they were not as nice and forced us to move because the crowd was too big, blocking the circulation on the plaza in front of the big restaurant. To me that was a false pretext, the order came from the chief of police of South Beach.

But, we were done, it was after the show at the end, the magnificent performance of the Raelian Angels, led by Lisa and the main choreographer Sophie.

Bravo to all the team, it was a great success!!

What's up in Chicago?

Looks like the most amazing weekend!!!, by Marina, Regional Guide

It started a little early, Thursday night, with a Spanish lecture brilliantly orchestrated by Nadine, supported and given by Eduardo and the Chicago A team (Alaric did a great leader job! Pedro always there! Dock our super smiley sound man!!) well...Eduardo, congratulations! you rocked! 60 people in the room! 10 books sold! and....

Friday evening, 3 Spanish men who were at the lecture, came to our potluck. Among them, Alfredo. He is on fire!!! bought all the books, plus 3 more books that he sold to his friends, will do his transmission on the 1st Sunday of April and is changing his work vacation to come to the seminar! Such a dynamic man! A great future leader. :)

Saturday night, I went to a 2 hours group meditation session with didgeridoo and crystal balls. It was soO fantastic! The didgeridoo man just called me and said that he would love to come to the seminar and play for us! he just needs my help to settle a few technical details...hehe :))) but it's not finished! Sunday night was our celebration of femininity day here in Chicago. We decided to relax a bit :) and organized a movie night at my house (we still had the projector from the lecture :)) I sent an invitation to many friends of mine through email groups which I belong to (a group of 20 girls here in Chicago decided to gather and together want to rediscover the little girl inside them :) -the Divinas- hehe...they make my job easy!) I received many emails of congratulations and support :) they loved the idea and the femininity quotes :) Most of them were busy that night...but the 7 who came took on letting their masculine side at the door, and to help this, decided to open my wardrobe and play dress up... it was so much fun! how daring they were to go out of their box! One of them, hazel, cried of joy when she heard me talking about the Raelian philosophy. Her tears were such beautiful diamonds... I have a feeling that she too will be with us at the seminar... :)

Monday early morning Alaric and I were on the road to Milwaukee in Wisconsin to give a lecture in Jim Lewis's class (a religion professor who often invites us to give lectures in his classes....such a sweet man! :)) With us came a beautiful French girl Sahra, friend of Alaric. She has been coming regularly to our meetings and became a close friend... she had decided to come to the seminar already...but this trip overwhelmed her, and it was so intense, that she decided to do her transmission on the 1st Sunday of April as well! Alaric really transformed her life, she has been blossoming like a rose on a spring morning, she has been drinking every word of the message and...well she gives me chills! Finally, Monday lunch, we met with 3 sympathizers in a Milwaukee restaurant and planned the next lecture :) And we got so rewarded! One of them, Dick (a very special man!) opened up his secret and took us to a little house. He opened the cave door and we followed him into the basement...an other secret door locked with a special code opened to... a wonderful private wood and bricks hot tube!! :))) This beautiful place is reserved for spiritual people from any faith who want to be able to bath naked :) We thought of Elohim all day! and we had soO much fun!!

So you see, I am now completely overwhelmed with joy!!! and emails... :) will get back to you all shortly!

David rocks in Vancouver

It is my great pleasure to relay some news about a presentation of the messages here in Vancouver. It was an intense three weeks for our team, the four of us. After much thinking about what people here in Vancouver feel and think it was very clear that they do not want to hear about religion. After hearing about the success last year in Europe with the presentations on crop circles and UFO`S, I thought of stimulating people`s curiosity with a question in a picture of a poster. Thanks to Olga and her graphic abilities we added a few images (attached to email ,the date on the poster is old)

With such a poster provoking many questions, it put me in an area of foreign knowledge, after finding all the material I needed and a format, the rest was advertising. After having a look at our budget which was broken, I decided to put my own money in for advertising, (I know, bad David, he he he). I asked Olga to look at the possibilities and she went way past what I asked for, she found soooooo many places we can advertise for free, Magazines, newspapers, but all needed to have the information six weeks ahead of time. We decided on two newspapers for a paid ad.

We then went out into the streets to put up posters, bbbbbbrrrrrrrr ,our hands were so cold from taping the posters to the metal poles, we stopped in a place to get a hot chocolate, while we were in the coffee place I saw, right outside the window, a perfect place for a poster. We were not supposed to put it there but we did. There was this kinda bum hanging around and he said there going to put you in jail for that, so I said oh not lets go the police are coming. He ripped the poster off and walked over to the car and taped it to the hood of the car, Ali and I were laughing like crazy, we drove off while he was yelling at us with some free advertising on our hood.

We put up more posters, after we went to had out some pamphlets, and after ten minutes guess who shows up, our poster helper, this guy was yelling, swearing at us like I have never heard before, everyone was looking, one person said he was giving us free advertising as he walked by. What an experience! I wish I had it in video. I was three feet away from him as he continually swore and yelled at me. I kept my harmony and people that were sitting down actually got up and came to get a pamphlet from me, we stayed for another ten minutes and decided to leave, other people were getting stressed at him, he even followed us to the car and even rode his bike in front of the car. I said a parting word to him, I hope you find the love you are looking for and he said I`ll see you next weekend. (it would be funny if he became Raelian in the future)

The next weekend we did the same, minus our poster friend, and rite up to the day before the presentation, Olga had to catch up with a Russian translation so Denise, Ali and myself did the pamphlets and posters, we even met a man that met Rael in Chili ten years ago and even though there was not one word on the pamphlet about the Raelians many people said aaaaaahhhhhhh the Raelians, coool

The night of the presentation there were four people in the room five minutes before the presentation, by 10 after there were forty, there were some people still coming in after it had started. I was told by the few people that I had a chance to talk with that they really enjoyed the presentation, it was very neutral and only gave the facts.

What a great privilege to understand the messages, to be Raelian, to feel this DNA vibrate within us, it is such a great pleasure and privilege to have this genetic code. It is so much fun to be Raelian

Thank you my dear parents from space, to you Rael, and to you my brothers and sisters, what a beautiful family.

Diffusion among Scientists in Washington, D.C., USA by Viedamour (on the picture below with Michael J Fox)

From February 22 to 26, 2006, I attended the 1st World Parkinson Congress in Washington, D.C., USA. It was a marvellous and incredible experience. Last summer, the congress gave artists that have Parkinson's disease the opportunity to have their artwork displayed. Half of the people that entered this contest had their artwork chosen and I was one of them. This gave me the most wonderful opportunity to not only display my art but also and most importantly diffuse the messages among scientists and researchers from around the world.

The first day I arrived at the congress, it was so funny to see people (especially neurologists) dressed in 3 piece suits – it looked as if they were being strangled or something and others dressed 'normally' to look like everyone else. And then when I walked in with my colourful hair and clothing, all eyes turned towards me - it was really very funny to see - and immediately I could hear people talking about me...hihihi! – It was great. I really stood out of the crowd like a soar thumb... !

Opening night was fantastic. The famous actor Michael J. Fox, who has Parkinson's disease, was a guest speaker and I was able to get close enough to him to give him the book 'Yes to Human Cloning' and have a picture taken with him.

During my stay, I attended several sessions, one of which was on Domestic and International Policy on Stem Cells. It was very interesting to say the least. There were at least 300 or more people in the room. The speakers were Dan Perry, Amy Comstock, and Bernard Siegel (whom you probably remember). Mr. Dan Perry introduced the session by saying that in 2002 a charlatan UFO cult claimed they had cloned a baby. Then, when Mr. Siegel's turn came up, he mentioned how he got involved with stem cells. He started by saying that in 2002 a UFO cult called the Raelian Movement claimed they had cloned a baby and that he thought this cult was a sham and charlatan because they did not have proof and wanted this movement to produce proof by bringing them to court.

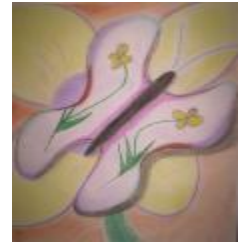

I could not let this go, so at the question period I was the first to talk. I mentioned I am a breathing, living human being with feelings, I have Parkinson's disease and I am a Member of the International Raelian Movement. Right away I could see on Mr. Siegel's face that he was shocked and surprised to say the least. He surely never expected to see a Raelian in his session or even at the Congress... ! I went on to tell him that what he said was hurtful and false, that the Raelian Movement had nothing to do with cloning a baby. I continued by saying he was wrong in speaking against my religion (or anyone else's religion) especially in a scientific setting because scientists should always be objective. After I spoke he said 'I am sorry I hurt your feelings but ... etc., etc.' When he said 'but' to me that meant that he was not sorry because he was justifying what he said and why he said it, so I did not accept his apology.

The day after the session, a lady stopped me in the hall way and said she had attended the stem cell session and completely agreed with what I said and supported me. She also asked me for info on the movement because she was extremely curious and wanted to know more about it. Another person from Wales, whom I befriended, was also very interested in knowing more about the movement, he even briefly changed his name from Alun M.... to Alun Raelun J! He also has a website and briefly mentions my encounter with him (<http://yap-web.net> under Home / February 25).

This was such a wonderful experience for me, I will never forget it and hope that there will be more like this. With my green hair and colourful clothing I did not go unnoticed (to say the least). A lot of people came to me and said they would like to be different like me but did not have the courage to do so. I told them not to worry about what others might think or say and just be themselves and do it. I am so happy to have had this opportunity to diffuse the messages in this way. Thank you Elohim, thank you Raël my beloved Prophet - I love you. And thank you to all the Raelians who knew I was there, I truly felt your support and positive vibes. The messages are truly for everyone who wants to know, be they neurologists or secretaries.

Conference in Philadelphia by Marc Letourneau, Regional guide

WOW!

I was so happy for the development of Philadelphia when 10 minutes before 7:00 PM, all the 30 chairs in the room had found a participant for the video-lecture we had planned. Therefore, the owner of the bookstore (specialty: UFO and other similar subjects) where the lecture was held posted someone outside and told the late comers to come back at 8:30 PM.

Then the 30 chairs all found a second participant at the second presentation for a total of 60, 2 times full room!. The bookstore's owners, David and Jennifer, invited me to sleep in their home and discussed until 1 hour after midnight. They are interested to come to the seminar. The participants were very interested and positive. We sold 8 books and 2 cassettes and one person even wrote to ask me to send her the e-books because they could not download it.

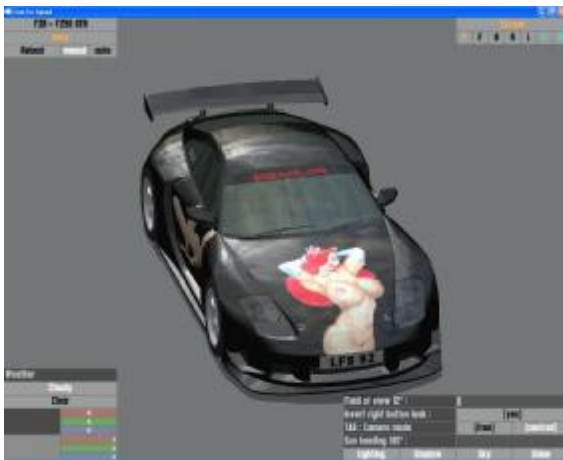

I feel privileged to have 2 assistants in training: Carla And Janet (a new comer and she will come to the US seminar), who did a great "job-play" in doing all the administrative task regarding media coverage and contact lists. All coupled with the owners of the book store who sent press releases and published an ad in the newspaper, we got tremendous media coverage: a written interview in the Citypaper (published on paper and Internet: <http://www.citypaper.net/articles/2006-02-23/naked.shtml>) and Oh surprise! They did not edit anything I wrote; there was a mention in the "DO THIS" section of the most read weekly news paper and its Internet version (http://www.philly.com/mlt/philly/entertainment/columnists/dan_deluca/1394), and on the top of the list!!!

In addition, there was radio coverage on Coast-to-Coast that brought many people. Some even drove 2 hours to come... Therefore, with the media coverage and the lecture, we covered the city with a wave of wisdom given to us for spreading by a wonderful messenger. We are awakening a city to the message of our awesome prophet of infinity and those who sent him. Yahoo!

A meditation proposed by Giovanni Ottaviani from Italy

Hello to you all, Celestial Creatures. :-)

I would like to propose to you a short meditation...

If you have the possibility, in the morning, wake up early, a few moments before the sun starts to paint the sky and brightens the magic of the night, and have a walk in a garden...

Turn yourself towards a flower, the one you are the most attracted to. You choose the one with the most artistic lines, the one whose colors express the most for you, religiosity and sensuality. It could be a flower on your balcony as well.

You approach the flower delicately, with lots of respect and love. You wait for the first shy rays of light to give life to the sky and to the beginning of this charming day...

Now, bow in front of your flower. Admire and be amazed by its colors. Caress it with your eyes, listen to the grace of its melody, abandon yourself to its fragrance, make love to its religiosity, its femininity and its luminosity that arise with the little dew drops... you breath with every part of your being, the eternal breeze of harmony.

Then touch it with the tip of your finger, as if it was the most delicate and precious diamond in the world.

And you can go further now, you can spread your consciousness in the Infinite of the flower, thinking of the Infinite of the Universes that compose it, with their wonders and their living beings, conscious and happy.

You live this solemn moment of eternity as a unique moment, full of charms and wonders, as an unprecedented privilege, with each one of your cells shining consciousness and harmony.

Only the illusion of your brain can make you feel separated from the flower, as the Infinite is one.... Be the flower. Feel it as an extension of yourself.

Melt with it and with the Universes that beat in its petals. Melt with its art and with the Eloha who created it; he may be the same as the one who created your beauty, who reveals himself in the happiness, the love, the consciousness and the refinement of each one of your gestures, of your thoughts, of your smile... to become the passion and the show of life.

This flower is nothing but the expression of who you are, at every moment of the day... and the one who will have the privilege to approach you, or simply to watch you, will have the feeling he or she is contemplating the purest and the most noble nectar of the stars...

You are the light that shines in the night to warm up the life and transmit the immortal flame of consciousness. You are the Temple that keeps the beauty of the Elohim.
