Israel needs a Gandhi as political leader

The Prophet Rael comments on the situation in Israel and also gives advice to the IsRaelian Raelians who are living there.

A New Honorary Guide

Dr John Sanford from Cornell University has been awarded the Honorary Guide title for his brilliant demonstration that Evolution couldn't happen.

Words of the week

"Emotions and rationality can destroy the world but the right teachings with spirituality can save it."
When we follow the Elohim's teachings, we are sure to be right.

WORDS OF OUR BELOVED PROPHET

Comments of our Beloved Prophet regarding the conflict Israel – Lebanon.

THE MESSIAH RAEI DECLARES: "IF ISRAEL WANTS TO SURVIVE IT NEEDS A JEWISH GANDHI AS WELL AS BUILDING THE THIRD TEMPLE."

After the Lebanese war and the ongoing war against the Palestinians, here are the statements of the Messiah Rael regarding the future of the State of ISRAEL.

"The protection of the Elohim that Israel has benefited from, runs the risk of disappearing and the State is likely to be destroyed once again. It might be because the Embassy will not be built and because of the crimes against Humanity that IsRael might commit.

For the Elohim will also cease protecting IsRael if its armies show bloodthirsty behavior contrary to the Messages, even if the Embassy was to be built there. In other words, not only must IsRael build the Embassy, but it must also have an exemplary humane and humanitarian behavior. Under no circumstance would the Elohim protect or even come with what could be understood by other nations as an unconditional support of IsRael's policy, if this policy was criminal.

That is why it is important for Raelians to defend absolute non-violence as proclaimed by the Messages, while practicing self-defense and no more, while avoiding killing at any price. And even better still, of no longer accepting to be more and more one of the richest countries in the world by not doing anything to fight against the poverty of the surrounding countries, in particular that of the Palestinians, whose misery comes partially from the creation of the State of IsRael.

Israelis cannot be satisfied to be just ordinary humans. Being the chosen people, they must be extraordinary and exemplary if they want to be worthy of keeping this temporary Promised Land.

Extraordinary in love and non-violence.

If walking in rows towards the extermination camps is out of the question, then it should also be out of the question to subject others to inhumane treatment by justifying these criminal attitudes with the fear of finding oneself in crematoriums, or by the fact of wanting to protect oneself from such possibilities.

Jews worldwide know that these horrors will not reoccur because Humanity, as a whole, would no longer allow it. Agitating these ghosts from the past to justify the horrors committed towards other nations is a justification used too often by certain fanatic Jews, whom we know pretty well, and who would be ready to deport the Arab-Israelis on a massive scale with the pretext, of course, that it is to prevent the recurrence of possible holocausts... A great excuse to turn into a persecutor with impunity!

The suffering and drama of the past does not justify the crimes committed towards others. If Israel wants to survive, and even more so to have the Embassy, it must become a model of love, non-violence and sharing.

Even if IsRael sustains some losses caused by terrorists, let's always remember Gandhi asking to answer hatred with love. IsRael needs a Jewish Gandhi... not a Bush, a Sharon or Netanyahu... In practice, and even if that brings human losses due to extremists blowing themselves up, give back all occupied territories, allow the return of Palestinian refugees, help with their economic development and the reconstruction of a Palestinian and Lebanese State.

The only way that things would change is by sharing all the American subsidies with these countries, accepting Palestinian students as well as from neighboring countries, at no charge in all the Israeli Universities, providing an education that would destroy extremism, etc.

As fanatical Muslims are saying, and even Israeli experts agree, with time the Muslims will become more numerous and exceed a billion facing an Israeli micro-state. If the reasoning that the strongest will prevail is true, then time will undoubtedly ensure that strongest will be the Muslims.

Even a temporary technological superiority is useless when one-and-a-half billion Muslims decide to end it all with IsRael... especially if the crimes of the Israeli's turn some countries away that were previously sympathetic to IsRael. Even if Israel annihilates some capitals with its nuclear weapons in an ultimate effort to protect itself, that will only precipitate its end, as the hatred generated by such actions will then be global and not only Muslim.

The only solution is once again love and non-violence. Some claim that it is risky. Certainly, but much less than the dynamic of the will of the strongest...

IsRael desperately needs a Jewish Gandhi as a political leader.

RAEL

Sometimes questions reach us regarding the relevance of the articles selected for Rael-Science, in particular about this conflict, knowing that Raelians living in Israel are swimming in a network of local information that's different ...

Here some comments on this subject by our Beloved Prophet:

In a recent text it is stated that Raelians are automatically Zionists, but of a non-violent form of Zionism. All the acts of violence, regardless of which side they come from or their justification, are unacceptable. And even the most righteous causes become unacceptable if those who fight for them commit violent and abominable acts. The horrors that the Israelis are subjected to are distressful, just as are the horrors that occur within Lebanon and Palestinian territory. Right now we are witnessing a reciprocal escalation of horror and violence everywhere on Earth and that does not encourage optimism about the fate of Humanity.

We, Raelians, have the privilege to know, and thanks to this privilege we can become aware of everything that occurs by looking, like anthropologists, at these human insects who are running towards their doom, always with good reasons and beautiful justifications to intensify the horror.

As it is written: "the road to hell is paved with good intentions...." and the person who will one day push the button which will annihilate the planet and destroy humanity entirely, will probably be right in terms of logic... but he will obviously be wrong in the bigger picture, even if his arguments are logical. Crazy people often have reasoning that is extremely logical... just like the ones who jump from the 40th floor.

The madness which surrounds us must be denounced... Rael Science must contribute to it by reporting all extremism. Sometimes what we find there is so crazy that it does not require comments to explain why we condemn it. When articles are selected which show the crimes of the Catholic Church, or homophobes, etc... no comment is necessary... the articles speak for themselves.

In a pro-violence fanaticism which has pushed Bush to invade Afghanistan, then Iraq, and recently Israel to invade Lebanon, (after having re-occupied the Palestinian territories), these horrors must be denounced from all sides. It is definitely Israeli fanatics which declared that the blood of only one Jew is more important than the blood of 100 Arabs... And if there are Israeli pacifists that protest against the violence of the Israeli Army, they are such a minority of heroes in a world in which Ghandis of any nationality are considered as anti-patriotic, anti-American, anti-Israeli, or anti-Arabic....

The responsibility of the powerful countries is to set an example of non-violence, because they are so powerful. The murder of 3000 people in the twin towers should have been followed by an increase in aid to the Third World, in particular to the Palestinians, and the evacuation of the American armies out of the countries where they had no business being and not by the destruction of Afghanistan and Iraq. The capture of Israeli soldiers should have been followed by the acceptance of an exchange of prisoners (that had already occurred in the past) and not by the destruction of Lebanon, etc... As long as governments do not ask themselves which decisions Gandhi would have taken if he were the head of their country, before acting, things will continue getting worse until the final destruction of a Humanity not deserving to survive.

Only the Just will be saved by the Elohim.

To remain Just, it is necessary to remain informed about all the important things that are going on, and about all the completely crazy, but absolutely logical, justifications of all the facets which will, alas, bring this Armageddon. A final cataclysm created by antagonists who will all be right, but which will all be wrong in the end. Because only the survivors will be right.

If everyone is dead, everyone is wrong.

Violence begets violence and those who live by the sword will perish by the sword... If the whole world lives by sword, the whole world will perish by the sword.

Rael Science enables us to witness all excesses and especially to see and hear "good reasons" which all the insane people use to justify their actions. But in a media landscape which shows only the madness of one side by disguising it in wisdom, it is essential to see the madness of the other side with its same disguise of wisdom in order to understand it. Then the madness of the World appears as a whole and that reinforces us so that we remain the knights of the only solution to save the world: absolute non-violence, coupled with actions to help the most impoverished, especially those which were expelled from their properties by completely insane "good reasons". Whether they are Jews from Nazi Germany or Palestinians of Israel.

The protection of Israel by the Elohim will not last eternally if the Embassy of the Elohim also known as the Third Temple is not built there. On the other hand the protection of the Elohim for Raelian Israelis who will have the wisdom to leave on time if necessary, will last eternally like that of all the Raelian Jews having resided or not in Israel.

We should pay careful attention as to not let ourselves get contaminated by the justification of violence by nationalism and by Bush's' criminal policy "of pre-emptive attacks".

A negligible conscious minority of Israelis that support non-violence does not prevent the majority of Israelis from supporting the violent political majority.

It's up to them to change it by their protests and their votes.

Violence will never fix problems and especially not the problem of Israel. To defend one self is one thing, besides it is recommended by the Elohim when one is explaining self-defence without seeking to kill, but attacks, invasions, the destruction and the occupation of close countries is not justifiable and is not defence, but pure and simple attack and is unacceptable.

Only love and non-violence can change things.

Unfortunately, events will prove that it is preferable for Raelian Israelis to keep informed about what occurs while seeking to only receive positive news or pro-Israeli news.... It is better to be informed about what anti-Israeli fanatics think and proclaim, whose visions are from now on shared by hundreds of millions of Muslims and of which the number increases continually...

The Ostrich Policy is a most dangerous one which wants to receive only good news... There were Jews in Nazi Germany who applied this policy and who didn't see it coming. If one day the Elohim recommend that the chosen people give up Israel, it will be necessary to be ready to leave the ship, and those which under the pretext of heroism or religious fanaticism will remain, will suffer the consequences. The chosen people are much more important than a piece of ground...they are eternal, whereas no land is. No land justifies the blood of one single Jew.

The future Promised Land is perhaps as it is written, in the heavens, and it is possible that all the Raelian Jews will one day be taken to a new Promised Land which could very well be another planet...

In other words, those who keep themselves informed of the thoughts and actions of the anti-Semites and the anti-Israelis, are much more likely to make the right decision if one day it was asked of them to leave a country that has become too dangerous. The other ones will perish because of their refusal to see the danger coming by not keeping informed of the thoughts of their enemies.

Those who have the privilege of following the Messiah and who have the wisdom to listen to him will be saved, the others, alas, one can do nothing for them... one can just try to help them become more conscious.

Comments about the war damages

Israel should pay for all the damages it had done in Lebanon, subtracting the amount of money of damages the Hezbollah has done inside Israel... but for sure the difference in favor of Lebanon will be huge. Punishing invading or violent countries with money penalties would be a very deterrent action against violence that the United Nations Organization should enforce. Then countries would think twice before destroying civilian infrastructures. The best way to deter violence is to hit violent countries in their wallets... These damages should also include on both sides huge damages for the families of any innocent civilian killed or hurt.

A NEW HONORARY GUIDE

Dr. John Sanford new Honorary Guide of the Raelian Movement

Following the publication of his latest book, Genetic Entropy & the Mystery of the Genome, Rael, founder and spiritual leader of the International Raelian Movement has named Dr. John Sanford an Honorary Priest – a guide for humanity – for his brilliant and courageous way to illustrate that the very foundation of evolutionary premise, the "Primary Axiom", is false.

In addition to showing compelling theoretical evidence that whole genomes cannot evolve upward, Dr. Sanford presents strong evidence that higher genomes must in fact degenerate over time.

Dr. Sanford's compelling research also shows that there are a growing number of scientists who are finding the courage to speak up against the "elated high priests of the scientific community" who support the theory of evolution despite the overwhelming volumes of evidence against it.

Here is how he described the genesis of his book.... Something we, Raelians, can relate to J

In retrospect, I realize that I have wasted so much of my life arguing about things that don't really matter. It is my sincere hope that this book can actually address something that really does matter. The issue of who we are, where we came from, and where we are going seem to me to be of enormous importance. This is the real subject of this book...

Modern Darwinism is built on what I will be calling "The Primary Axiom". The Primary Axiom is that man is merely the product of random mutations plus natural selection. Within our society's academia, the Primary Axiom is universally taught, and almost universally accepted. It is the constantly mouthed mantra, repeated endlessly on every college campus. It is very difficult to find any professor on any college campus who would even consider (or should I say – dare) to question the Primary Axiom....

Late in my career, I did something which for a Cornell professor would seem unthinkable. I began to question the Primary Axiom. I did this with great fear and trepidation. By doing this, I knew I would be at odds with the most "sacred cow" of modern academia. Among other things, it might even result in my expulsion from the academic world.

Although I had achieved considerable success and notoriety within my own particular specialty (applied genetics), it would mean I would have to be stepping out of the safety of my own little niche. I would have to begin to explore some very big things, including aspects of theoretical genetics which I had always accepted by faith alone. I felt compelled to do all this – but I must confess I fully expected to simply hit a brick wall. To my own amazement, I gradually realized that the seemingly "great and unassailable fortress" which has been built up around the primary axiom is really a house of cards. The Primary Axiom is actually an extremely vulnerable theory – in fact it is essentially indefensible. Its apparent invincibility derives mostly from bluster, smoke, and mirrors. A large part of what keeps the Axiom standing is an almost mystical faith, which the true-believers have in the omnipotence of natural selection. Furthermore, I began to see that this deep-seated faith in natural selection was typically coupled with a degree of ideological commitment – which can only be described as religious. I started to realize (again with trepidation) that I might be offending a lot of people's religion!

To question the Primary Axiom required me to re-examine virtually everything I thought I knew about genetics. This was probably the most difficult intellectual endeavor of my life. Deeply entrenched thought pattern only change very slowly (and I must add — painfully). What I eventually experienced was a complete overthrow of my previous understandings. Several years of personal struggle resulted in a new understanding, and a very strong conviction that the Primary Axiom was most definitely wrong. More importantly, I became convinced that the Axiom could be shown to be wrong to any reasonable and open-minded individual. This realization was exhilarating, but again – frightening. I realized that I had a moral obligation to openly challenge this most sacred of cows. In doing this, I realized I would earn for myself the most intense disdain of most of my colleagues in academia – not to mention very intense opposition and anger from other high places.

What should I do? It has become my conviction that the Primary Axiom is insidious on the highest level – having catastrophic impact on countless human lives. Furthermore, every form of objective analysis I have performed has convinced me that the Axiom is clearly false. So now, regardless of the consequences, I have to say it out loud: the Emperor has no clothes!

...To the extent that the Primary Axiom can be shown to be false, it should have a major impact on your own life – and on the world at large. For this reason, I have dared to write this humble little book – which some will receive as blasphemous treason, and others – revelation.

If the Primary Axiom is wrong, then there is a surprising and very practical consequence. When subjected only to natural forces, the human genome must irrevocably degenerate over time. Such a sober realization should have more than just intellectual or historical significance. It should rightfully cause us to personally reconsider where we should rationally be placing our hope for the future.

ASIAN SEMINAR

Sensually yours J

A Serene, warm and colorful welcome

A few days ago, the several hundreds of Raelians gathered in a hotel near Tokyo had tears in their eyes when the final show ended with a moving performance of the Raelian Angels who thanked Maitreya for his presence, his teachings and the happiness they all grew during the week.

The Japanese culture, full of refinement, combined with the Raelian philosophy, makes a very special cocktail that attracts more and more non-Asian participants to the annual seminar. It was also a pleasure to see the growing number of Chinese delegates, coming from different part of this huge country, all of them determined to carry and spread the teachings of the Elohim.

Our Beloved Prophet is also always delivering specific teachings to the Japanese members since Japanese culture is the closest on Earth to the Elohim culture. He reckons that Japan is the place where he is the most himself and this year again, political organization representatives and personalities came to meet him and express their respect and support.

Every one of his speeches was striking. I feel like sharing the notes taken during the final lecture as his explanation of how to build our consciousness was so clear and powerful that I am sure it will resonate in your brain as it did for all the participants and as it will resonate forever, for those who decide to apply it.

"We have seen that we can face moments where our brain balances between its rational part and its emotional part. If you follow one or the other, you may be wrong. They are both able to make mistakes.

How can we be sure that we always follow our consciousness? By following absolute principles. Because we are not sure we are using our consciousness. We may have the illusion to use it while we are following our emotional brain or our rational brain. How can we be sure we aren't following an illusion? : By following absolute principles, like the principles of absolute non-violence, all the principles taught by the Elohim in the Message they gave us.

When you have to take a decision affecting other people, will you be affected by the skin of these individuals, by their religion, their nationality? You will, if you use your emotional brain or your rational brain. This is real life. Why is it that American people sent bombs on Nagazaki and Hiroshima and not on Germany's cities? Because German people are white and American people have German ancestors. But to bomb "yellow people" was ok. Same with slavery, there hasn't been white slaves in America. And it is still happening now. Some Israeli elected representatives declared recently that the blood of an Israeli is worth the blood of 100 Muslims and a majority of Israelis believes it. This is wrong. The absolute principle is that the blood of one human being is more important than the whole of humanity. This absolute principle is not guided by an emotion or by some rationality but it is guided by spirituality. Like the story of Gandhi telling a

Hindu father who lost his child, to adopt a Muslim orphan and raise him as a Muslim. That's love, that's an absolute principle. No emotion, no rationality.

We are so lucky to have the teachings of the Elohim. It is such a gift. Instead of leaving us in the jungle of emotions, struggling through the thunderstorms of our brain between the rational and the emotional brain, they gave us principles.

What does a conscious human being do? He refers to absolute principles. No need to think, to go through emotions, to be rational, because all this could misguide you. The Elohim are saving us from so many mistakes.

The Germans were very rational when they were saying that the Jews were the enemy of the nation. These German people were very beautiful, they honestly believed their government just like Americans believed bombing Hiroshima would save humanity.

Nobody is bad and nobody loves bad things. The worst crimes are committed in the name of god. When George Bush kills thousands of children, he believes he is doing the right thing. Emotionally he believes that he is protecting the civilization from Muslim fanatics. Rationally he can explain why. In both cases he is wrong.

It can be beautifully explained with rationality but it is wrong. How could it be right?

Bush claims he is Christian. The message of Jesus is clear : " if you are hit on the right cheek, give your left cheek". Instead of giving the left cheek, he killed 100,000 people. He is not using the right thinking.

Emotions and rationality can destroy the world but the right teachings with spirituality can save it.

We have to use our consciousness yes, but we are not sure as illusions are using rationality.

Only following the absolute truth and the absolute teaching is right because we are guided by the highest consciousness of the Universe.

When we follow the Elohim's teachings, we know we are right.

Of course we can have long analysis of their teachings when there is no event to deal with. We study it, we evaluate it, using the filters of our brain, our rationality. We can refuse it. But if we accept it, if we feel it, then we swallow it and put it in our head as an eternal guide to save the world. You make it yours. Then when you have to make a decision, you don't have to go through emotions and rationality, you let your auto-pilot of consciousness guide you.

You don't have to think about it. Your first reaction must be: " what are the teachings of the Elohim?"

We have to be guided not by trying to be conscious, we are not good enough, our consciousness is not trained enough but by following the teachings and in doing so we train our consciousness.

The teachings of the Elohim are the most beautiful gift. We are guided by love, by good.

Study them, study, study and let them guide you.

I don't have to be perfect in my judgement. I am sure I will not be perfect, because I am not perfect. But the teachings are perfect and I follow them so that I am 100% sure to be always right.

If you think your brain is better, you are up to mistakes. It is better to have the humility to ask " what are the Elohim's teachings?"

The worst poison of humanity is pride. All the illusions around you make you think you are using your consciousness. When you are using the teachings of the Elohim with humility, you are right.

Then you have to know them, study them and spread them.

The world will not be saved by consciousness because the illusion of consciousness can destroy the planet. The best way to save the planet is to spread the teachings of the Elohim. We are together to save the world. We can do it together. Will you help me?

No need to say we were all touched ... If you want to know more about these teachings and practice more your training of your consciousness, the next seminar is scheduled in UK from September 30th to October 7th Hope to see you there J

Nominations

On the last day, several guides were nominated

Mun Suk Ahn "Queen" (Korea)
Soo Hyun Kim "Shine" (Korea)
Sa Gwon Kim "Amor" (Korea)
Dave Payne (Singapore)
