

Politeness and respect...

YOU ARE NEVER TOO POLITE AND RESPECTFUL !. And when you think you are too polite it is still far from enough.

First Sunday of April Celebration

Our mission is to save everybody...Ask your government to vote for the ban of atomic bombs.

Today is a beautiful day of celebration as we celebrate the creation of Humanity.

A long time ago, the Elohim were living on a beautiful planet, similar to Earth, and the scientists discovered how to create life, like we are doing now. Scientists are starting to create life on Earth now.

Scientists are thinking about creating a synthetic human being. We are very lucky to live in this time where slowly we are becoming Elohim, if we survive...

That's the big 'IF' because sadly, at the same time that human being have a higher level of science, reaching almost the level of the Elohim to create life, very high, at the same time we have a very low level of wisdom, very low.

So, we can almost create life, for the first time in the history of Humanity, and at the same time we can destroy Humanity. It is crazy, exactly as the Elohim said 40 years ago when I received the Messages.

Let's hope atomic bombs will be forbidden everywhere on Earth soon

“ I ask the Raelians to be the most active to push the Japanese Government to change its decision”

Think about it, you are so privileged to live now. For the first time we can create life in laboratories and we can destroy all forms of life on Earth. We are close to make a synthetic human being and we are 99.9% close to destroy ourselves.

Maybe you saw my comments on Facebook [see below]. Soon, in July, at the UN, there will be a vote regarding a proposition supported by more than 40 countries around the world, calling for atomic bombs to be forbidden. However the biggest powers are refusing it, America, Russia, China, all the big powers who have atomic bombs are refusing it. It is terrible. We may be living the last few years of life on Earth. It is so sad.

At the same time if we save Humanity, we can become Elohim. If this vote happens in July, no more atomic bombs on Earth, we are safe. So let's meditate and hope that in July, in 3 months, this vote will go on and succeed, even if the big powers refuse it, and make atomic bombs forbidden.

I love Japan but I am a little bit angry because, among the countries that said they will not participate in the vote in July, beside America and Russia, there is Japan. This is crazy. Japan which has suffered a real holocaust with the Hiroshima and Nagasaki atomic bombings, should be the most powerful in supporting this vote. It is the only country in the world that has suffered death from atomic bombs. How can they refuse this proposition? They should be the most fanatic saying “yes please!”.

So I ask all Japanese citizens to write to their governments as there are 3 months left before the vote; petition your government and ask them “what are you doing there?”
You can choose, it is a decision of your government.

I ask the Raelians to be the most active to push the Japanese government to change this decision. So let's meditate for peace, let's hope this vote will pass and atomic bombs will be forbidden everywhere on Earth. We, Raelians, we could be selfish and not care; “If they kill everybody with atomic bombs, the Elohim will come and save the Raelians”. It's true, but they will come and save the Raelians only if we do the maximum to save everybody. If there are atomic bombs exploding everywhere and everybody is destroyed, big UFOs will come and save you, only if you are active to stop atomic bombs. If you are selfish and say “ I don't care, they can destroy themselves, the Elohim will save me”, then they will not save you as they want to save only people who are full of love. My wish is not only to save the Raelians, my wish is to save the whole Humanity, including the stupid military who want to throw the atomic bombs.

If there is atomic war on Earth, nobody will survive, nobody. Japan is well placed to understand with the aftermath of Fukushima. Just one small power plant created big damage on Earth, a large part of Japan where nobody can live, with just one small power plant. Imagine 20 thousand atomic bombs exploding everywhere... we are doomed, finished, not one place will be safe on Earth. What is the place that received the most radioactivity from Fukushima? Tokyo? Okaido? No, California! The United States had the highest radioactivity from the wind of Fukushima. With only one small power plant! Imagine 20 000 atomic bombs... nobody would survive.

It is our mission to save Humanity, to save everybody on Earth. I hope you will help me.

The Elohim's love is for everybody, not only for the Raelians. It is for the Buddhists, Christians, Muslims, any religion, even for the people who hate us. Many people hate me, I want to save them.

Love your ennemies, save everybody.

Will you help me?

If they are not forbidden, all countries should have the atomic bombs!

Maitreya's comment about the upcoming UN vote to ban atomic weapons described as unrealistic by the US Ambassador to the UN:

Yes, it's much more "realistic" to get closer and closer to a nuclear holocaust that will destroy all humanity. And our creators will hold these idiotic politicians responsible for it.

The example given of North Korea using the atomic bomb while all "good" imperialist countries do not have it is just absurd. For example, even if it were to happen, the U.S. war machine has enough power and war planes to totally destroy North Korea without using any atomic bombs, just as it destroyed Afghanistan, Serbia, Iraq, Libya, etc.

The most terrible hypocrisy is that they refuse to forbid atomic weapons while continuing to support the nonproliferation treaty. Translation: "Only we, the superpowers can have them. Other countries cannot have them so that we can continue to dominate and bully the world."

Sadly, the only solution is for all other countries to get nuclear weapons as soon as possible. If Libya, Afghanistan, Iraq and other victims of U.S. imperialism had had them, they would have never been attacked, invaded and occupied.

The message is very clear for all countries not wanting to be the next victims of U.S./Western imperialism and neocolonialism: Get as many atomic bombs as soon as you can!

In today's egoist world where there is no more compassion or consciousness, if there were a Gandhi, the United Kingdom would drop a nuclear bomb on him. And nobody would care.

In the same way, nobody cares about the fate of the Palestinian people, who are prisoners in the huge concentration camp of Gaza. Instead, people focus on football games and stupid new talent shows, or on the fate of a dog trapped in a hole.

The wonderful, huge peace movement that stopped the Vietnam War and made the United States lose it can no longer exist, since journalists "are embedded" among the invasion forces. And nobody cares as long as people can watch their games on TV while U.S. soldiers and drones are killing innocent children elsewhere.

Since there is no more compassion or consciousness, it's time to partly abandon the values of absolute nonviolence that are one of the basis premises of our philosophy, even if they still apply individually. From now on, it is acceptable for Raelians of nonnuclear countries to work for the armament industries of their countries or armed forces, in order to make it impossible for Western imperialist and neocolonialist powers to attack, invade and occupy them in a new, modern colonization accomplished under the guise of "bringing democracy."

Only they and no others around the world care at all about their nonviolence. For example, when France forcibly removed the great President Gbagbo in Ivory Coast because he wasn't supporting French interests, nobody lifted a finger.

Sadly, the millions of Palestinian Ghandis suffering under the boots of Israeli torturers fail to trigger a reaction from the so-called "civilized world." Such reactions did occur during the times of the original great Gandhi and the antiwar peace activists against the Vietnam War.

Sadly also, the so-called "civilized world" of the Western powers knows only the use of force. Like the great Jean de la Fontaine said long ago, "La raison du plus fort est toujours la meilleure." (The logic of the strongest is always the best).

So we arrive at the paradox that the allegedly modern civilized countries, with their mouthfuls of words about freedom, democracy and human rights, actually impose only the rule of the jungle. Instead, they are the real savages and barbarians of this planet, bringing us closer and closer to the total destruction of humanity. Since they understand only the use of force, it's time for the weakest to arm themselves to the strongest degree possible, including the acquisition of nuclear weapons.

And it is also time for the formerly colonized countries to become allies against Western imperialism. It's much safer for African or South American countries to make alliances with China or India, both of which were also devastated and occupied by Western colonizers.

It's important to notice that the United Kingdom still hasn't apologized for its colonization crimes in India. India's prime minister recently called that a "collective amnesia." In addition, France still dares to claim that African colonization was beneficial to the African people. France also still imposes money printed in France on Africans plus a "colonial tax." Am I having a bad dream?

Now all these criminal Western powers have their eyes on Africa for new colonization. They already have many military forces there under the guise of humanitarian aid, or allegedly to protect French nationals in case of political violence.

Of course, as soon as an African president doesn't support French pillage, he is killed by those forces. It's also interesting to notice that there is no African military force in France to protect the African citizens there who are the victims of so much violence, racism and discrimination.

The double standard is clear: French soldiers can protect French citizens in Africa but African soldiers are not invited in France to protect African citizens. Therefore, particularly for Africa, but also for South American countries and many other countries, it's time to get strong, create militias to expel Western occupation forces and try to get nuclear weapons as soon as possible.

No Western power will hesitate one minute to invade any of the African countries, given their current level of defense. But if they become nuclear powers, the cowardly Western powers that attack only the weakest will not lift a finger against them. The message for them is clear: In a world ruled by barbaric Western powers that apply the Law of the Jungle, you must be as strong as them. Get atomic weapons!

Clarification concerning nuclear weapons and the role of the Elohim's Messenger

March 31, 71aH

Unfortunately the [above] comment on nuclear weapons reflects a sad reality, but at the same time it is full of hope: as long as the super-powers refuse to destroy their nuclear weapons, then these weapons must proliferate before everyone finally accepts to destroy them. And this information comes from "above"...

We have to understand that as long as only super-powers possess nuclear weapons, then the risk that they use them will remain, because unfortunately they are too sure that no one else will use them. And bearing in mind human error, a nuclear war can easily be triggered in this way. Already at the time of the Cuban Missile Crisis, we had been very close to a catastrophe. All it takes is a badly transmitted order, an escalation triggered by a clumsily reported detail, or communication sabotage by a madman and all goes up in smoke. The only solution is to all arrive at a consensus where nuclear weapons are forbidden for everyone, something that they are refusing to consider at the moment. And for that to happen, proliferation is necessary so that everyone becomes very afraid.

And the situation in Africa at the moment, which can no longer be qualified as neo-colonialism but much worse: neo-slavery, requires that Africans acquire the means to break their chains so that their slave-masters start to fear them, in order to stop their actions and no longer seek to physically recolonize this territory under the false pretexts of bringing "democracy" or destroying terrorism...

We must remember that I am not here to keep on repeating the 5 points, but to save Humanity in its entirety, by transmitting the instructions given to me, which may become increasingly surprising for some.

Also, we must not forget that non-violence does not mean that we have to accept being the victim: the martial arts were invented by the first Buddhist monks who were tired of getting assaulted.

Saving humanity is my main purpose even if this requires means that may seem a priori contrary to our initial values: in fact paradoxically, saving Humanity can require an increase in proliferation to create an increase in deterrence. Unfortunately, the super-powers MUST be afraid in order to commit to disarmament. In the absence of sufficient consciousness to destroy nuclear weapons, there is still a chance for peace by resorting to fear. This is what I understand from the last directives of the Elohim and I agree. No one attacks a Buddhist monk anymore when we know he is a martial arts champion... and that is how the world becomes pacifist.

Nuclear disarmament, which had started magnificently after Cuba, was thanks to this mutual fear between the USA and the USSR. Unfortunately it was not due to their wisdom but their fear.

I understand and support these new guidelines 100%.

India, the land of Gandhi, the apostle par excellence of non-violence, now possesses an enormous stock of nuclear weapons and this is excellent. If it didn't, it would suffer the same fate as Libya or Iraq, with millions of innocent deaths, women and children. As a great philosopher said, "there is always an army in a country: if it is not the country's own army, it is its neighbor's".

If we achieve our ultimate goal, which is the end of nations and national armies, we must not forget that the Elohim advocate a world government with a world peacekeeping force. In the meantime, the imperialists only understand fear, which is why unfortunately the small nations need to arm themselves to the hilt to avoid wars and casualties.

I am not here to continually repeat the 5 points but to save Humanity in its entirety... by transmitting the directives given to me, which may become increasingly surprising for some ... This is the advantage of having a living Prophet ...

The Messages are not dead messages, they are alive, that is to say directly linked to the ever changing chances of self-destruction as observed and studied by the Elohim and continually updated through the additional Messages that they have transmitted to me, are transmitting and will continue to transmit, such as the advice to the Jews of Israel to evacuate which they gave previously, and which Raelians could have refused on the basis of remaining faithful to the old Messages.

Those who want static messages don't understand the privilege we have of being guided by those who think only of our future and who adjust their directives according to our mental evolution ... or rather our mental regression. There was this wonderful opportunity to ban nuclear weapons ... and in their stupidity, the super-powers refused.

Nothing in these new directives contradicts our main mission: to save mankind and lead to a disarmed and non-violent world.

Those who cherry-pick excerpts from the Messages to try to sow discord by criticizing the updates that I transmit, do not deserve to be in the Movement. They should not forget the most important part which clearly says that the Elohim hear through my ears and speak through my mouth. Yes, it is not the Messenger who is important but the Messages, and this applies not only to those of 1973 and 1975 but to all those which followed or will follow. In this update it is still not the Messenger who is important but the Message to save mankind and avoid death and suffering.

If people prefer to follow dead messages rather than the Elohim they don't deserve to remain within the Raelian Movement. I will not hesitate for a second, if necessary, to expel 90% of members, as occurred at the time of the transition from Madech to Raelian Movement, keeping only those faithful to the Elohim and their updates rather than just the Messages of the past. They are like the Jews who refused to acknowledge Jesus by obsessing with their old writings, neglecting Jesus, the living

Messenger sent to them and whose mission was to bring more peace and love.

The choice is simple: follow the Elohim who are guiding us and who will continue to guide us in unpredictable ways, or follow the Messages of the past by rejecting new directives. I chose without hesitation, using my conscience and the REAL respect of the Spirit of the Messages whose goal is to save Humanity: if new Messages arrived asking me to push towards violence, betraying our deep values, then I would immediately refuse to forward them on. If I transmit, it is because the little messenger that I am, considers that it is worth saving Humanity based on these new means, which in no way lead to violence, but on the contrary helps avoid it, even if they differ from those adapted to the time of Gandhi. This echoes an old principle “if you want peace, prepare for war” that will become obsolete when we arrive at a world government.
