LIFE OF THE MOVEMENT

IN HIROSHIMA, JAPAN

By Hiroko Ichikawa, Japanese guide

The Flower Parade is an event sponsored by the city of Hiroshima and by local companies that happens each year under the theme of "let's link warmth of people/chain of peace" for connecting Hiroshima and the world. For 3 consecutive days, volunteers march the Peace Boulevard of Hiroshima. 1.6 million people were there this year.

Japanese Raelians took part in the parade for the 2nd consecutive year.

The flower float of the Raelians had signs saying : "Truth of scientific creation of life" "There is love in DNA" "The embassy to welcome Elohim", etc. with banner of "The Movement to officialy welcome extra-terrestrials Elohim to this earth" drawing people's attention. Music from loudspeaker, and the Raelians in various clothes marched giving out pamphlets.

Love, peace, femininity.

Onlookers of young and old gave us warm applauds taking photos.

At 3 different locations, public announcement by official staff of the Flower Parade introduced us Raelians as "We are marching this year again to let people know that we the Raelians relay to you the Message of love and peace from Elohim, and prepare for official welcome of the Elohim. They will come by the year 2035 for sure. Let us build the embassy here in Hiroshima, the city Elohim love." It was such a pleasure to be able to diffuse the Message enjoying, playing while being appreciated by people.

Local TV covered the Parade in which the Raelians were also shown.

Our appreciation goes to Maitreya Rael and the creators Elohim whom we love and respect to have had such a marvellous parade in Hiroshima, symbolic city of peace.

ASIAN SEMINAR

By Kotaro Murakawa, Asian Seminar Coordinator

The next continental seminar in Asia will be held in a hotel near Tokyo International Airport, in Narita, from August 13th to the 21st. It has a very easy access from the airport or from the nearest railway station through the hotel's free shuttle bus. It has a good access from the Tokyo capital area where many Japanese Raelians live as well. The hotel provides beautiful facilities and has nice green surroundings... and of course the noise of airplanes is totally shut out, so we do not have to worry about it.

This seminar is a great opportunity to see and stay with the Maitreya Rael, not only for those coming from Asian countries, but also from the other continents. Would you like to join us in welcoming the new Buddha from West to Japan? Please check our official site for more information, and register now :)

A NEW WEBSITE

A new website has been designed by the Korean team following the impressive work of Sang Yuel who researched evidence about the coming of the Maitreya from the West. You may visit its English version at <http://www.maitreya.co.kr>

A NEW RESPONSIBLE FOR TEACHING IN CONGO

Uriel, responsible for teaching in Africa has just nominated Roberte Nika, a young woman, guide level 4, as the new responsible for teaching in Congo.

With Elohise, also in charge of teaching in Gabon, there are now two women in charge of teaching in Africa.

Congratulations dear sisters and we all wish you great success in your awakening task 😊

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sandrine BELIN et Cyrille DUBRAY from France, who met some years ago in Eden, one of the previous seminar's location in Europe, just informed us of the birth of their daughter Maëlys, a new consciousness conceived with love...

Emmanuelle Noufe Lydie also had a baby a few weeks ago in Accra, Ghana. She just named her Djarabi, which means love in her language.

Welcome to both of you Maelys and Djarabi ☺

NEWS AND VIEWS

America's brain drain

The technology gap between the West and the East is narrowing more and more and according to the National Association of Software and Service Companies (Nasscom), the premier trade body of India's booming infotech industry, there are 25,000 expatriate Indian infotech professionals estimated to have returned home in the last four years and 40% of them have returned last year alone.

The American Electronics Association has described it as America's brain drain and India's brain gain, a trend that is challenging America's technology leadership.

Rael's commented this week on this situation: " We must increase this trend not only in Asia. It is the duty of all Africans who got a high education and position in the USA and Europe to go back to their country to help their people and countries become richer and more scientifically developed than their ex-colonizer's. A total reversal is possible with one day having poor American and European immigrants coming to clean the streets of Africa.

That would only be justice. But the Africans with their higher consciousness will have to be generous and compassionate and not place the same barriers and expulsion rules that the developed countries enforce today.

Rael encourages Italian raelians to vote yes in the upcoming referendum on assisted reproduction.

Italians are asked in a referendum whether they want to keep "law 40", a law that prohibits most of the common services usually associated to assisted reproduction or not. For example this law prohibits preimplantation diagnostics or egg and sperm donation. More than a debate about assisted reproduction, this whole issue has become a battle between those who want science and progress in Italy and those associated to the Vatican who want to limit them.

Rael agreed this week to the proposal of the Italian national guide to recommend to Italian raelians to vote yes to the referendum as it is important to help values of progress to prevail against traditionalist ones.

He also sent his support to the actress Monica Bellucci who declared that this law created an absurd situation where Italy was prevented to be at the same level as the other scientifically advanced countries. According to AFP, she added " If I were asking a catholic priest how my body is built, how my ovaries are working, he wouldn't even know what I am talking about" in response to cardinal Ruini, the head of Italian bishops in favor of keeping law 40.

Spielberg says extraterrestrials likely our friends The first encounter between them and human beings is going to be friendly

Steven Spielberg told the Associated Press lately that he expects extraterrestrials to be galactic good Samaritans like E.T. rather than the malevolent marauders of "War of the Worlds" and that the first encounter between them and human beings is going to be friendly.

He said "I can't believe anybody would travel such vast distances bent on destruction."

This definitely makes sense as the Prophet Rael often explains in his interviews. Those who have the technology to travel in space and visit other solar systems, other galaxies, have enough knowledge to destroy themselves if they haven't reached a level where cultivating peace is more important than owning territories and being right.

This obviously applies to our society as we have the nuclear power to destroy the earth right now, at the same time that we plan on reaching other planets of our solar system. If we do not resolve our inner ire, it is not likely that we will proceed further in the galaxy. According to Rael and our Creators, we have more than 87% chance of destroying ourselves (number also recently confirmed by independent associations). Our world needs more Gandhis to overcome the destruction process and this is why the " Intelligent Designers" who created us and care for our survival sent us their final message...(see downloadable book on www.rael.org)

Hollywood movies are reflecting on our human nature and prefer to show aliens blowing away puny earthlings rather than shaking hands. If they could revert the trend, they would not only help shape a world more fitted for survival but they would also really help us prepare humanity for their arrival ☺

Atheistic Intelligent Design, a challenging and rational approach

Would the Kansas Education board consider it?

Kansas is again the centre of a heated debate where scientists are trying to demonstrate that the Genesis creation story is a serious scientific alternative to Darwin theory. In doing so, they accused the evolutionist scientists to have a sort of a blind faith predicating them on a rejection of god as the creator of life on earth. The evolutionists ignore their deist colleagues arguing about their blind faith in an almighty god. And the scientific debate on creationism versus evolution naturally shifted to the existence of god versus the non-existence of god.

Science is the key. Scientists are given a whole set of information on the complexity of life, the interactions between living entities and the intricate ecosystem, the fossil information, the anthropology studies, genetics and biochemistry. Like Champollion in front of the hieroglyphs, scientists should take the time to decipher what is in front of their eyes, removing "blind faith" from the equation, whether it is faith in evolution or faith in god.

Is it more likely that life happened by chance or is it more likely that it is the result of an intelligent design? Many scientists went through the available data and opted for the ID option, and then asked themselves who could be the designer(s). Some of them became deists as they recon other human beings could have done it considering we are about to do it ourselves. However there is no faith involved in the process of finding the intelligent designers, but a mere curiosity and a desire to understand and meet with those who gave us the chance to think, create and blossom.... The passionate Kansas debate would certainly benefit from the introduction of this challenging and rational theory that is the Atheistic Intelligent Design.
