OUR BELOVED PROPHET COMMENTS ON THE NEWS ....

THE UN MUST DISAPPEAR TO BE REPLACED BY A MORE DEMOCRATIC AND NEUTRAL ORGANISATION

This is what I have been saying for the last 30 years...The UN is not a democratic organisation. It is an elite club run by a few ex-colonial and modern imperialist superpowers, all of them from white and western countries.

For the UN to be truly democratic, each nation should be entitled to a vote proportional to its population, which means that India and China, who represent almost 50 % of humanity with a joint population of almost 3 billion, would have a corresponding "voting power" of 50 %. The US on the other hand, with only 300 million inhabitants, which only represents 5 % of the world population, should have a voting power of only 5 %, and the UK, with only 60 million inhabitants representing just 1 % of the world population, should have a voting power of only 1 %. But instead, the UN is ruled by a small group of rich western nations who represent less than 10 % of humanity especially those in the so called "security council"...

If Bush, Blair and other leaders of imperialist, ex-colonial countries really want what they claim they want: to promote democracy, then they must accept a truly democratic UN.

But the truth is that they don't really want it, what they really want is to continue ruling the world, both economically and spiritually. As my setting up of the ICACCI (International Committee Against Christian Calendar Imperialism) pointed out, why is the UN, which is supposed to represent the whole of humanity, using the Christian calendar for all its official documents when only 25 % of humanity is Christian.

Why should Muslims, Sikhs, Jews, Buddhists and Shintoists etc who each have their own calendar, be forced to sign UN papers using the christian calendar?

The UN could adopt a neutral calendar, using as year zero the year of its own inception or the year Hiroshima was bombed, as a symbol of peace. But instead, it still uses the Christian calendar which forces non- Christian countries, who happen to be the majority, to recognise Jesus' supposed birth date when signing documents - without any sensitivity to the feelings of those whose forefathers were massacred, bonded into slavery or rampaged by crusades in the name of Christianity.

The UN has only 2 choices: completely change and become a truly democratic, non-religious organisation or be destroyed and replaced by a truly neutral and democratic organization. Maybe the latter is the best solution as it is always very difficult to change existing things. Maybe the new world body which would replace the UN will cost much less and be much more democratic: "made by the people for the people". It could even be a virtual internet-based world government, where the people can express their choices directly online. This on-line democracy would have the added advantage of dispensing with the most dangerous, least trustworthy and expensive people on Earth: politicians. My proposition of a web government: <http://www.upworldgov.org> could be the right solution to replace the obsolete UN.

RAEL'S "PRAYER" FOR GEORGE BUSH

By proclaiming September 16th a "National Day of Prayer for Hurricane Katrina", George Bush is really showing the world what a great leader he is. Forget about people dying without any help after a full week of being waist deep in water. Forget the 10,000 people forsaken in the superdome without food or safety, open prey to rape and abuse. Forget about the US army coming in to help only 1 week too late. A national day of prayer! What a genius! That's what the hundreds of thousands who lost everything really need!

If only George Bush had applied this new policy earlier, so many lives and money would have been saved. Let's imagine that after September 11th, instead of initiating a "war on terror" and killing 30,000 innocent Afghan civilians, Bush had declared a "National Day of Prayer" against terrorists, relinquishing the management of would-be terrorists to police and security forces as is their job anyway. Or, imagine that after making everybody falsely believe that Iraq was threatening the USA with weapons of mass destruction, Bush would have declared a "National Day of Prayer" against Iraq and allowed UN specialists such as Scott Ritter to prove that there were no WMD, instead of killing 30,000 innocent Iraqi civilians, leading 3,000 US service-men to death and injuring 15,000 of them who will now be handicapped for life...

Yes, national days of prayer can really make a difference. And instead of wasting the 200 billion dollars that was lost on illegally attacking and occupying Iraq, he could have bought a new house for every American who lost a home in the Katrina disaster.

Now, let's just hope that the new Bush policy will continue: instead of attacking Iran or Venezuela because of their behaviour not fitting in with US policy, he should declare a national day of prayer against them!

Of course, some might argue that a national day of prayer wouldn't achieve anything. What is the use of praying to an almighty god who lets thousands of innocent children die through tsunamis and hurricanes, other than to thank him for killing so many people and destroying their homes? This leaves us with just two possibilities: either such a god is not almighty, because he couldn't prevent the disaster, or he is really evil since he allowed it to happen when, being almighty, he could have prevented it. In either case, this is a god who doesn't deserve any prayer or respect.

The truth is that there is no god. And, every natural disaster proves it (and there are infinitely greater and more devastating disasters to come, which will humble humanity, especially "the" superpower, showing it to be powerless and naked.)

But these "National Days of Prayer" are a great idea, even if there is no god to pray to, for as long as they just keep on only praying, at least they don't kill anybody or invade any country. Let's hope that in future, Bush will try to solve all his problems with national days of prayer! It would be even better if we began to understand the true meaning of prayer, which is telepathic communication with the Elohim, our human Creators described in the Bible.

And if the US treasury is empty because too much money was wasted on illegal wars and occupations, then Bush should also declare a "National Day of Prayer" for the US treasury instead of raising taxes. I am sure that every American citizen would love it...

RECIPROCITY OR NEO-COLONIALISM

Belgium just proposed the installation of a big military base in Central Africa that would be shared by the African Union and the European Union. The Belgian minister Armand de Dekker who announced that on Tuesday said that the humanitarian dramas in Darfur, the persistent insecurity in the East of the Democratic Republic of Congo, the uncertainty in the situation of Ivory Coast, all these motivate an urgent action based on a long term perspective.

Following this statement, the Prophet Rael declared today:

“This scandalous proposal would be acceptable only if, in the name of reciprocity, Europeans were accepting a military base shared by African Union forces and European Union forces on European ground. If not, this proposal is pure neo-colonialism.

The justifications of Armand Dekker referring to the humanitarian dramas in Darfur, the persistent insecurity in Congo and the uncertain security in the Ivory Coast that justify an urgent action for a long term perspective, are also applicable in reciprocity saying that the humanitarian dramas in Kosovo, the persistent insecurity in Northern Ireland and the uncertain security in Cyprus motivate an action based on a long term perspective.

The Prophet RAEL himself will be there and will do the opening of the Convention on Thursday 6th by launching the pollution index he conceived and developed with the help of Dr. Mehran Sam, Ph.D.

A programme rich in various presentations will be offered.

On Saturday at 2:30pm, a special tribute will be paid to the Prophet RAEL while a vineyard will be dedicated to him... wine degustation is on the programme as well

Here below is the press release that was sent this week world-wide to present the pollution index that will be officially launched during the Convention.... reserve your dates now....

Global Pollution Index to be Launched by RAEL at Convention in Switzerland

Geneva, September 21st, 2005 - RAEL, the founder and leader of the Raelian Movement, will officially launch the Global Pollution Rating system on October 6th at the annual Raelian Science Convention in Sierre, Switzerland.

To save the environment from pollution, following an idea from RAEL himself, Raelian scientists, led by Dr. Mehran Sam, PhD (Harvard), have formulated a working model for a Global Pollution Rating system which proposes that all products and services be labelled for their pollution impact during the manufacturing and production of their components.

Global efforts like Kyoto protocol attempt to address some aspects of the pollution problem. However, it is clear that political and business interests of various nations have hampered the progress of such efforts. To contribute to a resolution of this vexing problem of pollution and the environmental impact of industries, a simple indexing system has been devised that can be applied to everything from a bottle of water to an automobile, or even a vacation trip -- nearly everything can be rated for its impact on the environment.

The system proposes a uniform method to quantify the pollution that is produced as a result of manufacturing a product or rendering a service. In addition, it takes into account the pollution that is generated when a product or service is utilized by the consumer, as well as the pollution generated after the product is disposed of. RAEL has submitted a patent application for the Global Pollution Index to the US and international authorities.

When deciding among alternative products, consumers will be able to conveniently judge the pollution impact of their choices by simply comparing Pollution Index values which will be mandatorily printed on all labels, promotional materials, and advertisings. Consumers, for instance, will see that Genetically Modified food has up to 10 times lower GPI (Global Pollution Index) values than conventionally grown vegetables, as GM food does not require as much pesticide, fungicide, or fertilizers. This should encourage people who want to be environmentally responsible to select GM food.

This invention will be fully described at the convention.

ON the DIFFUSION FRONT

In Italy....Raelians will be in Venice to ask the Italian Scientists to build a political party !

Here is the press release that was sent today to the Italian press :

A few representatives of the Raelian Movement will be in Venice tomorrow at the “First World Conference on the Future of Science” to ask loudly that our scientists unite in a political party and propose candidates for government positions. Only then can the government decide to whom they should give funds and what technology should be developed.

The strict limitation on the funds for science and on the freedom of action for the researchers in the embryonic stem cell domain, in the therapeutic cloning and genetic therapy, as a few examples, show how little the politicians care for the health condition of millions of people and confirm that their vision is sadly limited or doesn't exist at all.

We wish that our leaders act, in the future, only for better conditions of life for the citizens and not for other interests, whether they are financial, military or religious.

In the US...San Francisco Power to the Peaceful Festival

By Felix Clairvoyant

On Saturday, September 10th 2005, visionary musicians, filmmakers and human rights workers, were present at the 7th Annual 911 Power to the Peaceful Festival at the Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Now in its seventh year, this festival is an annual series of free, outdoor music and arts festivals with a social justice message bringing together international musicians, local artists and renowned speakers in a large festival atmosphere. The first festival drew over 6,000 people, but has expanded to be one of California's largest festivals of its kind with over 50,000 attendees last year and over 35,000 this year. Hence what a great opportunity to spread the Message of the Elohim! It was Craig, Jocelyne, and I who spearheaded this action with our fantastic poster “The Message from ET: Stop War and They will Come” and distributing the “Democracy or Americanocracy” flier to hundreds of people. This Festival is definitely a melting pot of such a great variety of beautiful human beings! We rejoiced ourselves at watching all these happy people wanting peace on this planet and at the idea that perhaps one day our beautiful Prophet will be on stage talking to all this crowd at this amazing event...

With our love and deepest respect to you Elohim.

In Canada, On Sept. 15th the Toronto team held an event at the University of Toronto.

Dr. David Burman, responsible for Toronto was the first to speak and the topic of his presentation was creationism versus evolution. This was of course, a perfect fit: Being a scientific himself and a teacher at U of T, he was in his element like a fish in water. David is passionate about science and he managed to communicate it to the audience.

He then introduced Diane Brisebois who developed the subject further with her beautiful feminine touch.

The question period that followed was lively. Many non-Raelians who attended, some of them students, showed strong interest and peppered our guides with questions. Which of course is exactly the goal of this event!

Here after a few images of the Toronto team in one of their meditation gatherings...
